WE APPEAL TO

Those Princetonians who are anxious to share the happiness of their Christmas with others, with others whose growing despair forces them to remain in the shadows where each day seems a little longer, and just a little harder, than the day before.

Because Christmas, particularly in a world shaken by doubt, is a season for inner as well as for outer joy, and because too seldom do families struggling behind the curtains of tragedy have cause for hope, TOWN TOPICS presents the following facts for the consideration of the whole community.

There is in our midst a devoted young family that has been driven beyond its strength and has prayed over and over "just for the chance to be a family and to do things together." There has never been very much, but it is not a question of survival, for Dick, the 36-year old father, and Jane, the bewildered 32-year old mother, have given of themselves in providing a home and essentials for their three children—Anne, Joe and Patty.

Anne, 11, extremely shy and perceptive beyond her years, shares her parents' burdens. Joe, eight, is boyishly boisterous and yet strangely upset whenever he and Anne talk about Patty, their seven-year old sister, who all of her life has lain helpless in the crib at the foot of her mother's bed. Patty, a living lump with a head of grotesque proportions, completely dominates the lives of four loving, uncomplaining persons.

Six months after Patty's birth Dick and Jane unbelievably heard a specialist say: "We can do nothing; she may live for a few years, possibly to age 30." Nonetheless, they fought on together, with Jane seldom leaving the house they have since acquired. As it became dreadfully apparent that the 98-pound mother was no longer able to lift her youngest child out of the crib, they sought advice and finally agreed with the Social Service Bureau that institutional care was the answer. The application was made; Patty was a number on a waiting-list.

Weeks stretched into months and Jane worked on weekends, or during the hours Dick or the older children could be with Patty. Conditions in New Jersey institutions went from crowded to more crowded and last month word came from the Department of Institutions and Agencies: "I wish we could hold forth some hope for early placement . . . the situation is so difficult we have to suspend all admissions for the time being . . . we realize the urgent need for her removal from the home." Local authorities explored all other avenues of possible public assistance.

The time had come to let Jane and Dick know that their neighbors were standing by, that the tension and grinding abnormality of their lives could be broken by arranging for a temporary "private placement" for Patty. Dick, early on his garage job every day for the past four years, and Jane, who would be available for normal work-hours while Anne and Joe were in school, will do everything within their power to help maintain Patty out-of-her-home for the coming months—until the State takes over.

For this family group, so perilously close to the point of collapse, we ask a helping hand. Jane and Dick, and Anne and Joe, must understand that Christmas is also for them, that Christmas is the time of year when men and women open their hearts to others less fortunate than themselves.

Amount needed: upwards of $600.

THIS APPEAL IS MADE ONLY IN TOWN TOPICS. THERE WILL BE NO OTHER SOLICITATION OF ANY KIND. AND NO ONE BUT YOU WILL EVER KNOW WHETHER OR NOT YOU PASS IT BY.

Checks should be payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund and mailed to TOWN TOPICS, Post Office Box 371, Princeton.

Gift Centers. Of all the Christmas appeals that Town Topics has made, none has reflected a greater need for an immediate response than that which appears in this week's issue. In addition to contributions by mail to Post Office Box 371, gifts may be left at the Town Topics office, 4 Mercer Street, or at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau Street.

He's Here Again. A "community service" that has in a few short years come close to being a tradition will start again on Monday, when children throughout the Princeton area are invited to talk to Santa Claus. The magic number is 3375, and the only request is that mothers limit the time of their children's calls to two or three minutes so that as many as possible may be completed.

Arrangements for the service have again been made by Mrs.
Mimi C. Morgan, Jr. of 114 Prospect Avenue and Town Topics, but the man responsible for its invariable success is Henry Schultz of 353 Nassau Street. He's the 67-year old Santa Claus, whose enthusiasm in answering call after call is always equal to that of the eager youngsters who chatter away on the other end of the line. To them, Christmas is but a brief, thoroughly enjoyable time of the year; to Mr.
Schultz, totally blind but never short of the joy of living, it is the season that makes the rest of the year of darkness much shorter than it really is.

The Special Season. An eight-year old boy, spotting new decorations each time he rode up Nassau Street in his parents' car, remarked with quiet satisfaction,
"There's another! Each one brings me that much closer to Christmas."

A younger girl, aware that the world was full of a number of pretend Santa Clauses but not yet quite certain whether the main actor was fact or fancy, reported to her mother on her inspection of a department store Santa: "You could see the way his beard was pasted on that he was a fake. But it wasn't nice to tell him, because he thought he was real."

Viewed from any angle of the calendar, Christmas was coming, with only the Weather Man likely to wait until the last minute to see if he would welcome it officially with a white setting. As the holiday season approached, these were among the activities planned:

The St. Paul's PTA will hold its Christmas party this Friday night at 8 at the school, having as its speaker Judge Richard J. Hughes of the New Jersey Superior Court. Mrs. Edward Sweeney and Mrs. Walter McKee head the hostess committee; members will bring gifts to be exchanged. The PTA is also planning a Children's Christmas Dinner and Penny Fair for Thursday, December 18, from 1 to 1.

The Town Club will stage a Christmas Ball at Avalon Friday evening, with members and guests in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Klensch are in charge of arrangements, with carolling to be a part of the evening's program.

The YWCA's all-membership Christmas party is set for Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 at 202 Nassau Street. Following decoration of Christmas trees and of the building, a randlelight service will be held at 4:30. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Edwin Hall, Mrs. James Byron, Mrs. Frank Evans, Mrs. Arthur Jensen, aided by the Y-Teen Department.

The auxiliary of Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, will hold its regular monthly meeting and Christmas party Monday night at the post rooms, 55 Mercer Street. Members will exchange small gifts.

The Nassau Street School Christmas program, sponsored by the PTA, will take place Wednesday night at 8, with children in the fourth and fifth grades presenting "Our Christmas Heritage," a play depicting the Yuletide customs of many lands. The Witherspoon School program, the following night at 8, will include choral speaking by the sixth grade; dance groups from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades; and a play, "The Silent Caroler."

Directed by Mrs. Harriet Peterson, the cast includes Curtis Johnson, Betsy Baker, Melinda Young, Ruth Perry, Jack Dilworth, Susan Drury, Fritz Marston and Neil Volweider. Soloists with the eighth grade girls' chorus, directed by Miss Sarah Young, will be Ruth Perry, Melanie McGilvra, James Mather and Helen Harbison.

The Township PTA will hold a "Family Night" program of Christmas music, enrolling and refreshments next Thursday night at 7:15, with Mrs. Nelson Thompson in charge. A 75-voice chorus directed by Mrs. Virginia Switten will open the program.

Christmas carols will be played by a violin quartet consisting of Barbara Bedford, Edward Freeman, Elsbeth Glockner and Julia Morse, while group singing of carols will be led by Mrs. Eva M. Thomson. Her own composition, "A Christmas Lullaby," will be given its first public rendition.

The community's best-known Christmas program, sponsored each December 24th by the Lions Club, will again feature community caroling in Palmer Square. Gordon Griffin, committee chairman, will be assisted by Edgar Holland, Elmer Dietz, Donald Peresett, Charles Williams and Irwin Weiss, with the latter serving as the program's first master of ceremonies.

Petitions in Circulation. The League of Women Voters has begun circulation of similarly-phrased petitions in the borough and township to require creation of a Joint Christmas: Chapter Three. By the time this issue comes to your mailbox, you'll be ready to kick off your shoes, flop into a chair and start to plan the decorations for your house. We'll start off, therefore, with angels, Santas and Christmas baubles. From there, we'll go on to gifts for the household—your own house or somebody else's. Next week we'll fill you with food and drink, and stuff your Christmas stocking.

Deck Your Halls. The angels you see in Cummins' window are Friendship Angels, first made in 1938 in Munich. Today, DP's make them in the Bavarian Alps, and their sale is sponsored by Friendship Among Children and Youth. An angel in the true spirit of Christmas, made of golden foil, a candle of hope in each hand, and a delicately molded waxen face. You'll cherish her for many years. From Oberammergau, the famous hand-carved creches, minutely perfect, some in natural wood, some with painted figures. The Cummins Shop has nearly a dozen different ones this year. You'll find other creches at Clayton's, where the manger scene is a music box (Silent Night) or just a scene, sans music.

Christmas candles glow at Cummins, Nassau Interiors, Stonewald's and The Flower Basket. At Cummins, fat pine-scented ones in black wrought iron holders; at Nassau Interiors, a spangly Christmas tree one foot high makes a memorable white candle. There's a snowball, a church, smaller trees, and a huge square column, all in this white star-studded wax. Make your own candles from a kit at Nassau Paint Store.

To put your candle in, there are Norwegian sconces at Nassau Interiors. One is lacy wrought iron, in a crane-like design that sets your candles out from the wall. It's $22.50, but it will be an heirloom. Smaller flat sconces are about $12.50.

If you like color, look at flame red wood candelabras from Denmark at the same shop. Painted with a peasant design, they'd be Consolidation Committee Twenty percent of the registered voters is the minimum needed. If such a committee is formed, three members from each municipality will present a detailed plan for the new municipality on which at least two public hearings will be held. At the ensuing referendum, a majority vote in both municipalities is required for its adoption.

The League pointed out this week that, whereas the township's Committee to Oppose Consolidation one of whose directors is Dr. William S. Carpenter warns against signing such a petition, a recent book by Dr. Carpenter comments favorably on present existing legislation for consolidation. The league states that in "Problems in Service Levels," Dr. Carpenter "points out that former laws provided for a vote on consolidation before a workable plan could be agreed upon by a joint committee of the two municipalities involved."

It then quotes this passage from his book with regard to the present consolidation law:

"This improved procedure protects all local rights, and protects every municipality against involuntary merger with another municipality. By following its provisions not only can the benefits of a consolidation be canvassed in advance of the final decision but also agreement can be reached on all important financial and governmental questions that may arise."

Sales to Minors Studied. Princeton University and borough officials, liquor dealers and an agent for the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission have conferred at length on the problem of preventing sales to minors. While no solution has been reached, the basic development has been to require more certain identification of all purchasers whose age is in doubt, plus written statements certifying their majority.

Writing to Mayor Sturges, President Dadds has given his support to the campaign, commenting, "I am convinced from long experience that the overwhelming majority of our students are mature in their ideas of the responsibilities of citizenship and want no special favors on the ground that they are just 'college boys.'" Dean Francis R. B. Godolphin put teeth into this statement of policy with the promise that "We in the University will certainly do our best to see to it that the undergraduates know what the law is, and the University Discipline Committee is prepared to deal with all cases of infraction."

Playing Fields Expanded. Through George Conover, chairman of its Buildings and Grounds committee, the Township Board of Education has outlined a long-range program for developing its playing fields. To be completed in four stages, the undertaking calls for eventual improvement of more than five acres. At its December meeting, the board awarded a contract for clearing a one and a half acre tract and grading another of nine-tenths of an acre to Walter Lewis and Sons. Their low bid among five was $3,680.

Transportation problems are being studied by the board, and an extra bus has been added. Facts being brought to light indicate the need for marked changes in the present transportation policy before next fall, the board reports.

Miscellany. George R. Griffing, who retires on December 31 after six years as a borough councilman, was honored at the borough officials' annual dinner Saturday night in the Nassau Tavern. An engraved watch was presented to Mr. Griffing as a token of appreciation for the many services he has rendered the community.

Norvell B. Samuels, sales manager of the University Press, has been named its acting director during the year's leave of absence granted to Datus C. Smith, Jr. to guide a book-publishing program in foreign countries. A former Director of Student Employment at the University, Mr. Samuels has been associated with the Press for the past 18 years. During Mr. Smith's absence, Herbert S. Bailey, Jr., Editor of the Press since 1946, will direct its book-publishing activities with the assistance of Miss Miriam Brokaw, assistant editor.

A son (not a daughter, as announced last week by Princeton Hospital) has been born to Mr. and Mrs. George M. Bryant of 223-C Marshall Street. Sons have also been born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Kendall, 245 Elm Road; Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Hall, Jr., 10 Valley Road; Mr. and Mrs. Severen Duvall, Jr., 400-C Devereux Avenue, and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rapaport, 144 Snowden Lane.

Friday, February 6, has been set as the date for the dance that will benefit the Miss Fine's School building fund. Mrs. John C. Diehlmann is the committee chairman. Last year's affair netted some $500.

wonderful in a country room. A candlestick, with place for four candles in a row, matches the big candelabra. Wrought iron again, this time in a low branch candelabra that holds four candles.
At The Cummins Shop, they put candles into a green wrought iron tree, small enough to center your table. Complete with candles, these are $3. Stonewall's candles go into ceramic candelabras. $2.50 a pair. (Zavell's old bonus cards are still good here, by the way.)

O. Tannenbaum! Buy a 20-inch green foil Christmas tree, sprinkled with silver, from Cummins. On your real tree, you can hang tiny wooden angels (Cummins, Clayton's), yarn angels, sequined (Town Shop) or unsequined (Clayton's); a vain angel adjusting halo in mirror (Town Shop) or swinging impudently on a trapeze (Cummins); and a frosty snowman in yarn (Clayton's).

To light it all up, Noma lights from The Wright Store, these with built-in fuse in the plug so you won't burn your house down. And on your door, Santa bells from India (Cummins and The Flower Basket).

The Goose Hangs High. For your Christmas feast, set your table with a white cloth and a "party panel" from Clayton's. This is a hand-screen print on rayon cotton; a Christmas scene in the manner of Dickens, with churches, sleds and carolers marching around a large oval. Or use plastic place-mats, either a holly-ivy pattern, or Santa himself. (Wonderful for kids.)

You're having turkey? Look at the silver (Sheffield) venison-dish covers at The Silver Shop. In four sizes, any one big enough to cover a fowl and keep him hot.
For the center of your Christmas table, consider a sleigh from The Flower Basket. Lots of them here, in all sizes, ceramic, china—anything. (With or without reindeer.)

For the Whole Year. If you're giving to someone who loves her home, you might look over any of the following. Nassau Interiors has an immense collection—largely from Scandinavia—for the modern home. Swedish demi-tasse, for example, in tinted white china banded in gold. Paper cocktail napkins from Denmark in a box with handle. ($2 and $2.50).

Swedish silver demi-tasse spoons, eight for $8; and a wood-handled Oshviler cheese slicer for $1.95. Or Danish hand-painted tiles, a Swedish bird, hand-carved in pale wood with delicate fan tail and wings. Or a wonderful Swedish "lyre" with live wooden balls that brush lightly over live strings, making a quiet arpeggio.

Still in the same shop, grey ceramic vases, crackle finish, with small modern design in color. Short vases (or cigarette holders) in this pattern are only $1. Free-form ashtrays, too, (but over $1.) Globe-shaped modern vases in a dull brown; giant, massively heavy ceramic ashtrays; and a big brass ashtray with a black chandelier in its middle.

A find for your Budget: Nassau Interiors' white china salad bowl on a removable wrought iron base, china fork and spoon included, for $5.50. Seventy-five cents to $1.25 buys a hanging design in woven dried grass and bamboo.

More Moderns. The Christmas Bazaar at the Princeton Decorating Shop has many things for a modern home. Artzberg porcelain dessert plates, gold outline on stark white; giant coffee cups; plain white dinner plates. And coffee warmers—a heavy pottery coffee pot (six cups) on a wrought iron standard with candle, for $3.95. Casseroles match.

South Pacific cable mats are here, too: their design lifted from tapa cloth. Twenty-four mats for only $2, in black design on a strong beige. And we liked the wooden fruit in this shop conceivably a bit dry to taste, but unusual and handsome to look at. Pear, apple, a bunch of grapes, all with copper leaves, all in a natural wood tone with a grain that looks like the texture of fruit skin.

Harland W. Hoisington, Jr., chairman of the Princeton chapter of United World Federalists, reported at Tuesday's fund-raising dinner that the quota assigned the chapter has been oversubscribed. The principal speaker of the occasion was Dr. Donald Harrington of New York, a member of the UWF national council.

Eighty couples from Princeton, known as The Saints Society, will hold their second annual Dixie Jamboree and Dance New Year's Eve at the Stacy-Trent Hotel, Trenton. Two orchestras will furnish continuous music from 9:30 p.m. to 4 a.m. The committee on reservations includes John Delaney, D. Don Richards, Robert McCarthy and Thomas Brophy, with further information available through Mr. Brophy at 1791-W.

The newly-formed West Windsor Lions Club has named its slate of officers: James Sandilos, president; Gerald Dollar, secretary; Daniel Daly, treasurer; Chester Page, Lion Tamer; Louis Rieger, Tail Twister; John Platt, first vice-president; Starr Northrop, second vice-president; Walter Nickerson, third vice-president; The Rev. Guy Bensinger and Walter Conover will serve as directors for one year; Judson Kurtz and Martip Caples will serve for two years.

The club has completed arrangements for its Charter Night Dinner this Saturday at the Princeton Junction Firehouse. Robert W. Mangold, president of the Princeton Club, will represent this organization at the affair, while the new club's flag and standard will be presented by Chester A. Page, Deputy District Governor, on behalf of the clubs in this region.

The University French Club is sponsoring a chartered bus to New York to see Jean-Louis Barrault and his company in Moliere's "Amphitryon" and "Les Fourberies de Scapin" next Tuesday evening. Tickets may be purchased at the University Store, with the bus scheduled to leave from the University Chapel at 6:30.

The Volunteers for Stevenson report $2,257.28 raised for campaign funds against expenditures of $2,036.37. The sum does not include approximately $2,200 netted through the "Ruml Plan" and sent direct to Stevenson Headquarters in Springfield, Ill.

The unexpended balance has been left in the name of the group at the First National Bank, with its disposition to be determined later. Principal items of expenditure were: State Volunteers for Stevenson in Newark, $150; Television-Radio Fund (Springfield) $200; Television-Radio Fund (Chicago), $700; mimeographing, $153.95; newspaper advertising $134.40; telephone, $121.48; sound trucks, $140; poll watchers and challengers on election day, $83.90. A report on the funds has been forwarded to the Senate Sub-Committee on Privileges and Elections at its request by Edmund S. DeLong, chairman, and Charles S. Brown, treasurer, of the Volunteers for Stevenson.

News of the Theatres

McCARTER THEATRE

Ham 'n Legs is the 61st annual production of the Princeton Triangle Club and overall, it is quite probably one of the greatest college revues ever produced. It's a wonderful evening of entertainment. Performances will be given through Saturday at McCarter.

The show has a fast pace, talent, charm, wit, colorful sets and costumes, fine dancing and more than a touch of professional know-how. Most of all it has musical score which is probably the best in Triangle history for completely continuous appeal. The music is primarily the work of Glenn G.

Paxton, Jr., who also directs the most able orchestra the club has assembled in some years.

Given a few performances to complete the job of polishing, the show is a certain success wherever it goes. The revue has the usual allotment of brassy production numbers of high popular appeal, some pleasing songs, some amusing comedy songs and a good deal of well-aimed parody. Plus some just plain corn and whimsy.

Out of a show with a minimum of low spots, some of the best production numbers are the title song, "The Flagpole Sits 'n' Holiday," and the wonderful "Bring on Barnum & Bailey," a wow of a finale. Pick of the comedy songs are "The Little Green Electric Chair," "You Gotta Make It Easy for the Man" (Sophie Tucker-style), and "Keep it Small," a sparkling spoof of Noel Coward.

"Worrybird," soft-shoe and re-vised as a charming puppet routine; "The Caady Shoppe," a broad take-off on schmaltz musicals; and "Outcasts" (hillbillies with guitars) are well above par. Top sketches are the inspired satire on the play-reading drama quartette and a prop sketch on Gamesmanship.

A mere 24 hard-working chorus boys and "chorines" make up the superb cast. Best of the comics are Robert S. Goldman, Charles H. Schultz, Ronald N. Friedrich and James A. H. Magoun. Pierce J. Lonergan and D. Morgan Firestone set the dancing pace and the voices of Dudley C. Smith, Jr., Francis M. Foley and Harvey J. Dice make the songs a pleasure to hear. A special tip of the hat should go to —Continued on Page 14

MURRAY THEATRE

The Christmas Story, a production "bringing to life" seven of Giotto's frescoes depicting the life of Christ, will be presented Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Murray Theatre on the University campus. A cooperative production of the Community Players, Theatre Intime and Mrs. Chapin's School, the performances on Monday and Wednesday will be at 8:30 p.m. and Tuesday's performance at 7 p.m. will be specially for children.

The production combines a script about the fresco, choral music and the use of actors in the settings of the famous 14th century masterpieces, which are in the Arena Chapel in Padua, Italy. The "frescoes" are being repeated because of last year's excellent reception.

Rev. Mr. Benjamin J. Anderson will read the script, which was prepared by Peter Miller. Professor Elliot Forbes of the Princeton Music Department will direct the choral group, while the entire production is under the direction of Peter Cook and John Becker.

UNIVERSITY CHAPEL

Sunday, The University Chapel Choir will give a Christmas concert at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the Chapel. Professor Carl Weinrich will conduct.

Monday, More than 300 students from the High School will participate in a Christmas concert at 8:15 p.m. Monday in the Chapel. Thomas Hilbish will direct the concert and E. Clifford Savage will be the organist. The public speaking classes, directed by Mrs. Olive F. McKee, will also participate.

Works sung by the school choir and by the girls' ensemble will include music by Schutz, Benjamin Britten, Jungst, MacLamore, and melodies arranged by John Jacob Niles and Lawless.

"The Wise Men," composed for the girls' ensemble by Mrs. Mathilde McKinney of the Great Road, will have its first performance. The program will also include community singing of familiar carols and will end with the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah."

Tuesday, The Christmas story will be told at an informal service in the Chapel at 8 p.m. Tuesday and will be followed by carol singing led by the University Glee Club and the Chapel Choir. A half dozen groups with members of the two organizations as a nucleus will go enrolling through the campus starting at 7:20 and joining at the Chapel. The public is invited to participate in both parts of the program.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Bloodhounds of Broadway (Thurs-Sat.) outfits Damon Runyon characters in Technicolor. Chief among the odd if trivial personalities of Runyon's Broadway brood is Scott Brady, cast as a bookie. Continually harassed by John Law, Brady takes a powder and discovers Mitzl Gaynor, a Georgian girl who can sing. Brady's steady doll "sings" to the cops and he finds himself in the clink. The wildly improbable if entertaining story gives occasion for several musical numbers in a night club setting.

The Miracle of Our Lady of Fatima (Sun-Tues.) ranks as one of the great religious films of all time. In a reverent, delicately emotional and highly dramatic fashion, the motion picture presents a carefully authentic document of religious faith.

The miracle, which was reported in 1917 near a tiny hill town in Portugal named Fatima, concerns a vision appearing to three children. How the children hold to their account of the appearances in the face of the strongest scepticism on the part of parents, church authorities and totalitarian civil authorities is the dramatic substance.

The account is climaxed on the day of the final vision when 17,000 people are brought to fervent conviction. The closing sequence is a panorama of the 1,000,000 pilgrims who visited Fatima last year. In color.

Ivory Hunter (Wed-Sat.) is another of the interesting Technicolor films made in Africa with wild land scene on its shade. (White china base, if you prefer.) Brass student lamps are here, also, and a television lamp made like a giant Toby mug.

A hearth broom in natural air green at the Christmas Bazaar (Princeton Decorating Shop) would tidy up the most ashen grate.

More household gifts in the traditional manner at Pakman's, the new watch-and-jewelry store at 9 Witherspoon. We found sterling salt-pepper sets, a jam set in glass with sterling top and spoon (big jam jar, two babies), and sugar-creamer sets. There's a copper globe of the world that holds cigarettes, and a large collection of Ranson lighters.

Grandfather clocks in this store are electric miniatures about a foot high. Other electric clocks, too—Westclox and Telechron.

For Town. At The Town Shop, we liked the assortment of waste-basket sets. These combine frivolity and utility in a delightful manner.

One, for example, has a demure cat with sequin eyes. Another has flowers with sequin-dew. Most of these are pastel shades like violet or green. With them you can buy tissue boxes, bathroom bottles and a long tray to match.

Incidentally, look at the bathroom glasses, one "His" in frosted glass with little gold razors on it, the other "Hers" with gold powder-boxes and such. Enamel-coated cotton covers a round or octagonal box which you can give as a sewing or jewel box.

Egg-cups with roses on a white ground will cheer anybody, first thing in the morning. For $1 at Stonewald's. Here also is a tile with the New Jersey State Flower (violet, of course) hand painted there-on.

Tiles at The Town Shop come with a low wrought iron stand and tiles at the Nassau Paint Store come unpainted, for you to buy for somebody who paints her own violets.

Some of the best gifts in the genuinely traditional manner are the old prints at the Witherspoon Art and Book Shop. These hand-painted prints, taken from old magazines, feature scenes of Princeton and New Jersey. Some are French, however, and some are of various colleges.

A full page from Harper's describing "Yassar Female College" has an obvious destination. Hunting prints are here, too, and also scenes of England.

At The Silver Shop, you may buy a complete Chinese mandarin dinner set, 90 pieces in all. It was made in Canton over 50 years ago. If a full set like this makes you gulp a little, it can be had separately, including the demi-tasses.

The Shop also has a pair of brass candle-sticks in the grand old manner. They are 20 inches high, large, solid and magnificent. (You can buy silver in this shop, too, you know.)

Out at the Furniture Mart, we saw mahogany end tables for $19.95, and a 30-inch drum table with leather top for $39.95. For a mahogany bedroom, why not give a pair of boudoir lamps in marble, brass and white glass?

Desk sets are always a good gift idea. Stonewald's has chunky pads with pencil, address books, and all kinds of leather desk equipment. You'll find these things at Luttmann's and The Town Shop. Catch-alls at Stonewald's come in metal, with a linen butterfly pasted on the side. He has sequin trim. Other catch-alls are covered with a montage of perfume labels or liquor bottle labels (these for men.)

A catch-all, in case you didn't know—and we didn't—is an oval basket about five inches high. Goes on your desk.

IT'S NEW TO US
At the Christmas Bazaar, Princeton Decorating Shop, you'll find desk equipment covered with what looks like a small-patterned wallpaper. Quiet, but eye-catching. Here's a telephone book cover that will actually fit the Princeton phone book, you'll be glad to know. Also the usual address books, unusual in appearance.
Lots of desk stuff at The Town Shop, including a magnetic lap-board. We can't explain exactly, but its stiff clamp will hold paper, envelopes and stamps so they won't slide to the floor.

For the Soul. You can give pictures or books to a whole family, and some people think they're the best gifts of all. If you know a good Scot, delight him with a clan lithograph from The Little Gallery. For $15, you can have a miniature-12-inch colored costume portrait, probably a century old, in any clan you name. A short descriptive text goes along. These are colored lithographs made in Scotland.
Keleza horses are back at The Little Gallery. These are original wood-block prints in black and white, eight to a set, $15 each.
Theodora Waldron, Princeton artist, is selling a few paintings at The Witherspoon Art and Book Shop. They are water-colors, mostly non-objective, but some landscapes and marines.

Any current book you want is on the shelves of The Princeton Book Mart, Steinbeck, T. S. Eliot, Maugham (short stories, complete, hard, for $12.50). Don't forget to forget the Herald Tribune's revised American Cook Book, the Fireside Book of American Songs, the Golden Treasury of Natural History for your children, and inexpensive paper-bound books without end. That list should satisfy anybody.)
Small readers whose palates are jaded might welcome an English Pullin Book from The Witherspoon Art and Book Shop. There's a new book here, too, for four-to-eight-year-olds. It concerns the youngest bear in Goldilocks. It's a collection of letters, five all told, from this bear to whoever you give the set to.
This is a Peter Rabbit anniversary also, you will recall, and he appears in this shop in more languages than you ever heard of. We never knew such a literate rabbit. He's even in Welsh.
At the same shop, religious books for children in French, Indian coloring books from New Mexico, and the Penguin Modern Painters Series.

To the Kitchen! Pepper mills everywhere. Town Shop has a Frenchman and his madame; small individual mills from Germany; walnut grinders with ceramic insets, salt grinders, and ten-inch birch salt and pepper grinders at only $3 a pair.
At Stonevald's, California redwood pepper mills, and a nutmeg grater, complete with nutmeg, for $2.75. Lots of novelty salts and peppers for shaking, not grinding. Other grinders and mills at Nassau Interiors, Farr's and The Wright Store.
The warm smoothness of redwood has been turned into a mortar and pestle set at Stonevald's. For $3, with recipes. Lots of temps in this store, unmatched, for those who collect.
At Farr's, an aluminum teakettle, Tenko, pyrex, with stainless steel basket for brew tea. Well-designed, modern, for $6.95.

Indestructible kitchen cutlery at The Wright Store. It's Robeson steel, with a life-time guarantee. They tell us the knives are even guaranteed for three years against dullness. Knife blades go clear through to the end of the handle. (Natural wood or black.) You can buy a set of six kitchen pieces (ladle, turner, etc.) or four pieces, and four knives, all on a magazine-sized board.
Reyer has sent the first 12-inch covered skillet in over a year to Uken's. Buy it for $9.29. A full Reyer line here. Also at Uken's. Flat kitchen cutlery and kitchen tools, stainless steel, on a rack.
At Farr's, a Lift-a-Roast will benefit any carver on your list. Flat, things heavy enough to lift from the oven a large turkey or roast.

Costs $2.98. For anything hot, the Flower Basket has a flexible wooden mat in two shades of wood, like a checkerboard. Four inches square, it folds for storage.

A plastic cake plate at Urken's will hold a full-size angel food, visible through its clear dome. A plastic garden-cart (summer comes eventually) will hold eight beverage glasses most attractively.

Mixers are good presents, wallet willing. General Electric ones at The Wright Store, Hamilton Beach's Mixette (a baby) at Urken's. Peresett has all kinds of electrical kitchenware, including big stuff like Frigidaire refrigerators and the like. The Sunbeam deep-fat fryer at Peresett is a line buy for delicious French fries, doughnuts and the like.

To make her look pretty in the kitchen, buy anyone on your list a hand-painted apron from The Town Shop. Those with holly leaves are nice.

Wassail! Now down to the bar. At Farr's you'll find a bar set with stainless steel shaker, strainer, bar spoon, bar glass big enough for four drinks, for $4.75. Spill-Stop is like an apple with a stem—it goes on top of a bottle to make sure of an accurate measure.

A plastic flask with a jigger top pours out one jigger only when you squeeze it. To hold what comes out, Curio sets by Libby feature antiques on each kind of glass: old ships on highballs, old furniture on jiggers, and so on. Banded in gold.

An Italian-type corkscrew at Wine and Game lifts its chrome wings as the cork emerges. Costs $1.69. At LaVake's you can buy a "Bar Baby." This is a silver-plated cocktail shaker four inches high. Its top comes off and becomes a corkscrew and bottle opener. The bottom is measured. For $6.

Ice goes into a clear glass bucket with British guards painted on the side. Bitters bottle to match, and both at The Town Shop. Ice can also go into a woven basket with metal innards, for sale at Wine and Game. Two hundred ice-cubes will stay cubes for twenty-four hours.

Other bar accessories and glassware at The Flower Basket and Stonewald's. Cocktail napkins to go with all this, at Clayton's. One set is white with old-car models on each napkin, one set is white with proverbs in big colored letters: (Great Oaks From Little Acorns Grow.)

Rest of the House. General Electric blankets at Nassau Appliance. Twin or double size, single or dual control, any color you've a mind to. Prices from $57.95 up. These are at Lahey's, too.

Towels in gift boxes at Harris', with the familiar His and Hers on some, and a gay-nineties design on others. Five colored washcloths come in a gift case.

At Clayton's, candy-striped fingertip towels in terry. Poodles or plain, if you prefer. Bootherstone has a Needlecraft gift bath set, and Fruit-of-the-Loom muslin cases and sheets.

For the man in your life, a quarter-inch drill set at The Wright Store for $24.88, with saw attachment. Or buy him a workbench, ready to assemble, for $24.88. A Laye tool set here costs $11.95.

Urken's has Estwing hatchets and hammers, with handle that goes all the way down.

Wrap It Up. Fine papers at LaVake's and Christmas Bazaar at the Decorating Shop. You'll be proud to send cards from The Witherspoon Art and Book or the Christmas Bazaar. At the former, serious religious cards from Belgian and West Germany, the famous stained-glass cards from England, and secular English cards. At the Bazaar, cards that are reproductions of famous paintings. At the Town Shop, sophisticated cards for special people.

Stonewald's will put your name on cards in 48 hours—a boon to procrastinators. Ninety-five cents for 25 cards.

To cover it all with a Christmas blanket—liquid snow from Thornes, or The Wright Store.

Next week we wind it all up. Bring your stocking and we'll stuff it.

Quintet to See Action. Princeton's basketball team, heading into a ten-game series in preparation for defense of its Eastern League title, will run head-on into a solid test Saturday night. The opposition will be provided by a strong Fordham quintet which has already accomplished the feat of turning back Columbia on the latter's own floor. The Rams won by a 71-65 count against a Lion outfit paced by 6-6 Jack Molinas that is figured to be one of the strongest threats to Princeton's bid for a second straight championship.

An outbreak of thumb trouble hampered the team in practice somewhat, two members of the starting five dropping out of action for a time with such injuries. Captain Fred Tiltchler sustained a hairline fracture and was listed as a doubtful starter for Wednesday's clash with Temple and Saturday's with Fordham.

Phil Zuravleff, a veteran as a junior, suffered a severe sprain, as did reserve Dave Rosenberg. The "epidemic" is the worst Cappy Cuppon has experienced in a quarter century of coaching.

As has been the case in most seasons, the Tigers will start slowly and try to reach a peak for the Eastern League contests. Oddly enough, in 1950 and 1952, when they won the Ivy championship, they failed by a wide margin to break even in their first ten games, whereas in 1951 they ripped off ten in a row and then finished fourth in the Ivy circuit with a 5-7 mark.

Lafayette here Wednesday and Rutgers at New Brunswick Friday night will complete the pre-Christmas schedule, with participation in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C., to follow December 29-31. The Eastern League season will start Wednesday at Ithaca when Cornell entertains Harvard, but the other 41 games in the traditional round-robin will be played in 1953. The Crimson, which lost all 12 contests last year, and the Ithacans, who faded after a fast start, are not considered to be in a class with Penn, Columbia and Princeton.

Bothfield Starts Quickly. Princeton's hockey team staged a slam-bang battle Saturday against a combined outfit of alumni and varsity reserves. The final count was 8-4 for the regular Tiger sextet, with three of the losers' goals credited to residents of Princeton.

George Young, captain of the Tigers' last championship team (in 1941), scored first for the alumni in 17:54 of the opening period, beating Blair Torrey with a rebound from Hank Safarik's shot. Dave Harrop, assisted by George Hackl, tallied shortly after the second round began and—Hackl got the fourth "alumni-subs" score in the third frame. Safarik had accounted for the other in the second period.

But all of this scoring was matched by the efforts of one member of the varsity, as Captain Hank Bothfield counted four times for the regulars. He beat goalie Knobby Rodgers twice in the opening round and once in each of the final 20-minute sessions, in addition to setting up a tally for Pete Fairfax.

Despite Bothfield's success, Rodgers had a good day in the nets for the losers, with all of the "old men" on this squad performing in amazingly capable fashion considering the years that have passed since they played as undergraduates. George Young teamed with Bill and Jim Sloane to bring one of Princeton's best lines back into being; other Princeton residents to see action included Brad Craig, Pete Cook, Fred Schluter and Dick Chislett.

A good Rensselaer Polytech team will provide the action here this weekend. The Troy, N. Y., skaters have an indoor rink of their own—still a rarity in college circles—and have come up with some good teams in recent years. Last year, the R.P.T. sextet ambushed Princeton while the Tigers were on their way to Hanover, trimming the Orange and Black by an 8-4 count.

Northeastern will play a two-game series in Baker Rink next Friday night and Saturday afternoon. The Boston skaters are one of numerous small but good New England teams and will offer the Tigers plenty of opposition.

Honors in Football. Not that Charlie Caldwell needed proof for his contention that "Frank McPhee is the best all-around football player I ever coached," but plenty of it has been forthcoming in the all-American selections. Not only has the Tiger captain been named on half a dozen of the best-known mythical teams (including those of all three wire services and Look Magazine) but he is the only player to be named on both offensive and defensive platoons.

Because there were numerous good offensive ends this season, most All-American selectors solved the problem by naming McPhee on defense—despite the fact that he was used somewhat more on the attack. Last week, however, the Associated Press named McPhee on offense, thus classifying him as by far the most versatile of the nation's top players of 1952. Like Dick Kazmaier, Frank has become a two-time All-American—one of the very few in more than 80 years of Princeton football.

The AP also gave Princeton clear domination of the All-East and Ivy League teams. McPhee and Homer Smith were named to the offensive team in the All-East balloting, with Brad Glass and Ned Jannotta picked for the defensive unit. No other college placed more than two players.

These four and running guard Jim Otis were named to the mythical Ivy team. Here again, Princeton dominated its rivals in clear-cut fashion.

Earl Byrne, fast-traveling Tiger wingback, has been named to the —Continued on Page 20 probably the first of its kind ever selected. It was picked by the Chemical and Engineering News as a tribute to players who can combine ability on the gridiron with the even greater demands placed upon them by the requirements for a degree in chemistry or chemical engineering. Byrne came fast during the fall to win the starting assignment, scoring five touchdowns and averaging a great seven yards per carry.

From Fort Bragg, N. C., comes word that George Chandler, quarterback on the all-winlog 1950 Tiger eleven, coached a soldier team to an unbeaten season. Instructing them in all the refine-

George guided his outfit to the wards at past glories. Last year Joe Drulis' charges posted a 17-4 mark and reached the finals of the state Group III tournament. In 1950-51, the record showed 17 victories against only two losses.

This year's combination will be drawn almost entirely from former junior varsity players. The present starters are: Dick Lananah, 5-8, and Bob Stewart, 5-9, at forward;
Larry Fitzgerald, 6-2, at center;
Dave Cramp, 5-10, and Pete Johnson, 5-11, at guard. Johnson is a junior and the others are seniors.

Jim Sculeri, Joe Tuto, Tom Murray and Goldman Kidd are the present substitutes and none of them stands over six feet. Harry Buston is also expected to fit into the picture, but he is awaiting a medical go-ahead because of football injuries.

Drulis also has an all-sophomore five which will make up his jayvee strength and later in the season may move up to the varsity. Bob Montgomery, Bill Rodefeld, Dick
Wood, Al Terry and Bob Richey form the '55 combination and Drulis is counting on game experience to bring them along.

Faced with the appalling lack of altitude, Drulis will bank on the ability of his team to run. He will stick with his fastbreak offense and combination zone and man-to-man defense. With a rugged schedule, and undeniably blue prospects, the Little Tiger coach figures that the only direction is up.

Hun Routed, Lawrenceville committed licensed mayhem against the Hun School quintet in the opener for both teams last Saturday. The score of 37-19 bore a startling resemblance to Lawrenceville's football margin of 51-7. Hun meets Rutgers Prep here on Saturday at 2 p.m.

Lawrenceville's veteran-packed team held a decided height advantage and completely controlled the backboards. A first quarter margin of 23-3 told the story. Jim Campbell and Dennis Brumby netted six points apiece for Hun. Ray Algerici had four and Captain Russ Summers three.

Short Notes. The 1953 football schedule gives Princeton eight home games for the first time since 1912. Every 1952 opponent but Penn is back on the schedule, with Navy replacing the Quakers. The only road trip is to Cambridge

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

The schedule: Sept. 26, Lafayette; Oct. 3, Columbia; 10, Rutgers; 17, Navy; 24, Cornell; 31, Brown; Nov. 7, Harvard, away; 14, Yale; 21, Dartmouth.

Princeton topped the Ivy League in team offense and team defense, compiling respective game averages of 428 and 217 yards. Yale was the runner-up in each instance.

The Tigers' season average of 8-1 as well as their 297 points scored and only 74 points allowed also were better than any of the other seven teams in the circuit. Bill Tryon is fourth in total offense (Harvard's Dick Clabby is first); Homer Smith placed second in rushing, behind Clabby and third behind Yale's Ed Woodsum and Harvard's John Culver in scoring.

Charlie Caldwell was given the annual award of the Touchdown Club of New York. He was honored for his "outstanding contributions to football."

Irwin Weiss of 244 Moore Street has been named a vice-president of the New York chapter of Eastern Intercollegiate Football Officials. Weiss has served in top games of this section of the country for more than a decade. Also a leading basketball official, he has an outstanding record of developing young athletes as Princeton High School's track coach.

animals stealing scenes left and right. A semi-documentary, the picture deals with the founding of a wild life sanctuary in British East Africa. Anthony Steel plays a young game warden hunting down ivory thieves, and leopards and such give him plenty of trouble, too.

THE GARDEN

Beware, My Lovely (Fri.-Sat.) finds Robert Ryan in his familiar role of a psychopathic personality. He plays a mentally ill veteran with a persecution complex. To provide the suspense, Ryan locks Ida Lupino in her own house and proceeds to stalk her, which naturally causes a bit of alarm on the part of Miss Lupino. Well-acted if static, the film ends weekly after a certain amount of opportunity for fingernail biting.

China Girl (Mon.-Tues.), first released in 1942, involves a good deal of confused, silly melodramatics in the telling of the story of an American newspaperman captured by the Japs in the Sino-Japanese War before Pearl Harbor. The cast includes Gene Tierney, George Montgomery, Lynn Bari and Victor McLaglen.

The Hour of 13 (Wed.-Thurs.) concerns a charming 1890's jewel thief whose operations are halted because he is confused by the police with a Jack-the-Ripper type who is down on Bobbies as a group and inclined to skewer them with a sword. Peter Lawford lends a light touch to the part of the suave, light-fingered ladies' man. The plot involves some cat-and-mouse business with Scotland Yard, romancing with Dawn Addams and all sorts of man-traps.

The Raiders (Fri.-Sat.) is another episode in the saga of How Hollywood Won the West. This time the valiant efforts of Richard Conte as a hard-fighting prospector make it possible for California to join the Union. He opposes the strategems of a greedy land baron and even goes so far as to put a bullet through him. California joins up, however, and Conte receives a pardon. When he leaves prison, Viveca Lindfors is there to cheer for him.
